Election Day

Staff meeting.

I talked to Reed Harris about IIA matters.

Then Ellis Briggs came in to discuss his forthcoming work in Korea.

[redacted] Had lunch at the Metropolitan Club.

This afternoon I had a briefing on electromagnetic developments, and on Soviet [redacted] jamming of radio broadcasting. It was [redacted] an intricate, technical [redacted] dissertation.

We went tonight to the Ellistons', the Bohlens', and the Foleys' in turn to see the election returns on television. The sweep to Eisenhower set in early. By two o'clock in the morning it was a rout. I went to bed at 4:00 a.m. [redacted]
